

28th July 2004

Eduwealth
21B Race Course Lane
Singapore 218739
Attn : Mr C Y Wee

Dear Mr Wee

PRAXIS GAME

We are proud to endorse PRAXIS game for the teaching and learning of financial and economic literacy concepts.

Those who have experienced the PRAXIS gave me the feedback that it is a well designed game that is not only appealing but more importantly, it engages the players and creates an impact on them on the various economic and financial literacy concepts. It offers a hands-on approach to grasping abstract and complex concepts and we welcome the game as a powerful pedagogical tool for teaching and learning.

We share with you the excitement of developing good educational products that have surpassed expectations and will further enhance teaching and learning for all age group. Those who have played the various versions of the games at NIE and during events organized by The Association of Commerce Educators, Singapore, have described the experience as invigorating, refreshing and educational. We appreciate the well designed game which simulated aspects of real world issues and consequences of decision making, bringing the real world into the classroom.

Congratulations and we wish you success in scaling greater heights!

Yours Sincerely

Koh Noi Keng
President
Association of Commerce Educators, Singapore
Lecturer, Humanities and Social Studies Education Academic Group
National Institute of Education